Amid tumultuous applause and shouts of encouragement, the redcoated chaps stole the show that wound up with radio chatterer Alan Jones and singer Maria Venuti taking to the rostrum and conducting an auction.

Some showing their support included John and Mary Cummins, jeweller Denis James, Suzanne Blake, Fiona McIver and father Dr Robert Melville, Pat and Maureen Delany, triathlon champions Stanley Johnston and Richard Meikle, Don and Lynne Sekula, she turning heads in electric blue sequinned dinner jacket and bow tie worn with black silk pants and matching shoes.

Also there was a tableful of Channel Nine heavies, Sam Chisholm and wife Ronda, housewife's heart throb Ray Martin and wife Di, Vikki Jones and Ian and Dagmar Cook.
